AUGUST
1972

Dear Friends,

I have a strong suspicion as I start this letter that it is going to be most difficult to write. Words come hard after all this time to express the real sense of gratitude we have for all the memories of these last six years in Milnrow and Littleborough Relationships make a ministry and Mrs. Jenkins and I have spent the first six years of our married life surrounded by so many good and kind friends. Our children have not just been reared on good, strong, Pennine air and a wide range of Lancashire dialect, they have known true friendship and love.

When you look at the statistics of a ministry of six years, you are quite amazed by its 'growth'! This is my 68th Minister's message; the number of individual visits to hospitals is 1152; the number of sermons preached is 536; and wait for it - the number of cups of tea drunk on visitation work - amount to approx. 80 gallons (a pure guess!). This is not to blow my own trumpet - most ministers would average these figures - it is to show just how well you get to know people, and how much you value the fellowship of people's homes and the confidentiality of their problems. There is hardly one family that comes within the scope of the churches that hasn't had some sadness, some stress and tension to face over the time that I have been minister. The pastoral ministry is still the most important side of the minister's work - it is also the side which is most rewarding spiritually, but most demanding psychologically. This is why I value all the relationships that have led to a deepening of Christ's work.

My work as minister in the pastorate here will finish this month, but the work of the church continues. It must go forward in Milnrow and Littleborough with everyone's co-operation and prayers. It is of vital necessity that leadership should be found to carry the churches through the months of the interregnum. If the churches can show a continuing unanimity of mind and purpose, then the future should be challenging and creative. Strength can never be measured in terms of numbers and size, it can only be seen through our spiritual maturity. When Paul said 'Be strong in the Lord' he exhorted men and women to remain firm, consistent and enthusiastic, as well as to maintain those qualities of discipleship which Christ demands of us. Mrs. Jenkins and I look forward to hearing of the continuing work and witness of the churches in Rochdale and to welcoming you whenever you are passing through the area of Gloucestershire, where we will be living. God bless you all in every way.

Yours sincerely,

Glyn Jenkins

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN MAGILL CRAWFORD of 6 Timbercliffe, Summit, passed away suddenly on 4th June aged 52. Mr. Crawford was a church member of Littleborough Congregational Church, and his death came as a sudden shock to everyone at the church. Our sympathy is extended to his wife Elizabeth and to the three children.
The funeral service was conducted by our minister on 7th June with a service at the church and at Rochdale Crematorium.

MARY ANN SHORE of Brooklands Nursing Home, Milnrow, passes away on 28th June at the age of 91 years. The funeral was conducted by our minister on 3rd July. Miss Shore was a kind friend of our church over many years. Our sympathy is extended to all the relatives.

ALBERT TAYLOR of 2 Entwistle Street, Milnrow, passed away on 6th July at home, aged 76 years. Mr. Taylor was a generous supporter and kind friend of the church, as was his late wife, Mrs. Susannah Taylor. The funeral service was conducted by the minister on July 12th and a memorial service was held on Sunday 16th July. Our sympathy is extended to his son Albert and his family and relative

HOLY BAPTISM

SCOTT BAMFORD of 10 Church Terrace, son of Mr. & Mrs John Bamford was baptised on Sunday July 16th, our minister officiating.

CONGRATULATIONS TO:

Mr. & Mrs. Fred Rothwell, of 22 Chadwick Close, Milnrow, who celebrate their Golden Wedding on Saturday, 19th August. Mrs. Rothwell has attended our church and Sunday School for about 60 years and is still a very regular attender at our evening service.

FAMILY CHURCH READINGS:

Theme: God's continuing work: everyday life:

Aug. 6th: Old and young together: Zech. 8: 1-6
13th: The privilege of learning:
Proverbs 1: 1-5, 7, 20-23, 32-33.
20th: Care for others: Deut. 24: 14-15, 17-22.
27th: Society in collapse: Jer. 4:23-27; 5: 1.

The purpose of the series:

During the last few months we have been dealing with God's continuing work within the community of the Church. This month we begin to see that the proclamation of the gospel of the God and Father of all mankind must involve us in caring for everyone, inside and outside of the church, both near at hand and far away. An event in the Olympic Games or a journey in space is instantly shared through television, and we become involved in other people's adventures and difficulties. This series helps us to more than spectators and to see how our neighbours, both near and far, depend on us, and need our response.

THERE'S A LOT OF IDOLING ABOUT

The Ladies Guild held their Annual Rally on Tuesday 18th July when a large number of ladies from surrounding churches came to St. Stephen's.

The service, which was written by Mrs. Gillon, was entitled "What Shape Is Your Idol?" and seven ladies showed how easy it is to set up 20th century icons. Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Gillon conducted the service and Mrs. Starkie played the organ. Refreshments were served afterwards to those who were not over-devoted to slimness.

Thanks are offered to all who helped in any way.

SITTING IN THE SUN

Several of our younger members demonstrated futuristic golfing techniques at the Ladies Guild Garden Party the other week and the Revd. Glyn Jenkins, who was supposed to be supervising the exercise, no doubt made some mental notes about how to put (no pun intended) some of these techniques to use on the large scale. Meanwhile, but a dart's throw away friendly P,C. Baines held the ladder firm and watched amazed as some darts actually hit the board. The more devious children present soon learned that the electric wire game suffered from a faulty buzzer and proceeded to make heavy demands on Ladies Guild Funds while a mechanically clueless civic dignitary typically squandered funds which were not his own. Without his aid we would have made more than the £17.30.

We are very grateful to Mr. & Mrs. Baines for allowing us to visit them in such large numbers. The glorious St. Swithen's weather was a great encouragement to sit in the sun taking afternoon tea so ably served by our increasingly harassed ladies.

We were specially happy to see so many of the ladies from Sheriff Street enjoying the luxury with us too.

THE MOVING HAND WRITES & HAVING WRIT MOVES ON

The formation of the United Reformed Church will apparently have an affect on the various publications put out by the Congregational Church. C.C.W.M. for example, are to publish their last "Enterprise" in December. In October, a new monthly will be launched to replace "Congregational Monthly", "Presbyterian Outlook" and "Enterprise."

So far the new publication seems to lack a title and it is being referred to as the "new U.R.C. magazine"; a dangerous trend, perhaps, because people might begin to refer to "NURC", which is hardly a fitting image. We do know that it will contain 32 pages, some colour and will cost 75p for the year. A letter has been received from the Editor, John Gregory, telling us that the magazine will have sections on current affairs, help with sorting out beliefs, assessment of experiments, background to matters of church policy making and news items from localities all over the world. They are also looking for journalistic talent and laymen who can write articles of general interest in their own particular exporise.

Over to you!

"What does the future hold? It can mean all the delight of keeping our witness up to date and relevant. It could mean the opposite of this."

...Revd. Glyn Jenkin's first Messenger letter - August 1966.

If our witness over the last 6 years has indeed been up to date and relevant much of the credit must go to the leadership of Glyn Jenkins. The best leaders must know where they are going and how to persuade others to follow; they need, therefore a sense of purpose and a sensitivity to people.

Like many Christians today Glyn is seeking a purpose for the church in the modern world:

"The church may grit its teeth and put its back to the wall, but in the end she has to face the world as it is."....(May 1971)

but in a more confident vein:

"Can you hear the cry of a neglected, unwanted world? The world we are talking about is not just the yell of the pot-bellied baby in Vietnam, not just the 13 year old boy in Dr. Barnardos. It is also the world on our doorstep in Milnrow and Littleborough."..(Dec.1966)

In his first six years as a minister God has given hom more than his fair share of good sermons to utter. He has managed to blend humour with provocation, poetic phrases with common sense and, though he has sometimes defied doctrine and stretched logic we can forgive him that. He has made us COGitate and eventually CARE and when that seemed to make us introspective and parochial he challenged us with a little girl in Rochdale and a cyclone in Pakistan. This has been a positive ministry. The fact that he has so often successfully challenged our suburban smugness is a tribute to his social skills.

He is a super-salesman with a talent for gimmicks. We have had a donkey walking down the aisle, a cross on top of Blackstone Edge and Ena Sharples opening a bazaar. He has turned out with a big stick for a sponsored walk; in clerical trunks for a sponsored swim and with OO needles for a sponsored knit. The things we have done for that man! There is a suspicion that on a few issued God and he have been in a crafty conspiracy to make us do things we di not really want to do. Usually he has carried us with him in a hectic dance with Excalibur, Pilots, Family Church, Centenery Celebrations, Michaelmas Markets, Modernisation and Every Person Canvases. He may not be the "Lord of the Dance" but he is the leader of the band. It upsets him if we refuse to play his tune yet he never interferes when we play his tune our way. He has too much social sense to try to dominate in all details. He launches ideas and then is content to work as a member of the crew. He is a team man:

> ".....people came up to me and said how wonderful it is to have a team behind you like this. It was a good word to use..."
> (August 1966)

> "These two years have proved to me that the effectiveness of the full time ministry largely depends on the building up of a relationship between minister and people which is one of co-operation, trust and discipline."....(August 1968)

And now:

> "I am going to miss the relationships that have become deep and meaningful. It is only at times like these that you realise that a minister is not beyond being ministered unto. His faith is constantly put on trial. When people reveal Christlike qualities & sacrifice, his faith is encouraged. When people are stubborn and unresponsive, his faith is put to the test.
> (june 1972)

God Bless you Glyn Jenkins.

A LETTER FROM MRS. HANCOCK

"May I, through the medium of the newsletter, give sincere thanks to the members of my own church and Ladies Guild and very many friends; also members of St. Stephen's Church for get well cards, letters, gifts and visits to me, at home and hospital during my long illness.

"A special thankyou to my Minister, the Revd. Glyn Jenkins for his care and attention, prayers and Holy Communion in my home. I am very grateful to everyone as this has been the only connection with my church and services which I miss so much.

"I would also like to thank the Lay Preachers who have visited me after the morning service and the children for their gifts at Christmas.

"May God bless our two churches in the near future when we are to be without our Minister, and may God bless him and Mrs. Jenkins and their family as they are called to lead other people in another church."

Yours gratefully,

Eva Hancock.

And may God bless you too, Mrs. Hancock. We want you, and indeed all those who are sick and troubled, to know that our thoughts and prayers are still for you. We hope that you will continue on the better side.
